Delivering Performance

KEEPING THE POWER ON.

“What goes on in the nuclear world is much different than any other time sensitive business. Whether it is a planned outage, or a forced shut down, Airways makes them all work, rerouting shipments around weather problems or coordinating ground support at remote locations. Their people have solutions.”

Tony McHugh
Entergy – Indian Point II

Major utilities across America depend on the boundless energy, timely delivery, and world-class service of Airways. Here’s why.

TIMING IS EVERYTHING.

In the utility business, we know the effects and costs of down time can be devastating. And we respond by providing your industry the time-critical delivery of parts and equipment it demands. Today, Airways is unequalled in the handling of emergency and time-sensitive shipments for utility companies, as well as normal transit air and truck transport, both domestically and internationally. We have access to charter aircraft and expedited ground equipment 24-hours a day, ready to take off at a moment’s notice.

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER.

Named Entergy’s Nuclear Supply Chain Leader, our team of knowledgeable freight managers obviously offers vast experience for nuclear stations. But our knowledge also

COMPANIES WE WORK FOR

- Pacific Gas & Electric
- Southern California Edison
- Entergy Nuclear
- Exelon North Atlantic
- Florida Power & Light

extends to fossil-fuel/hydro operations, as well as other transmission and distribution facilities – worldwide.

MAXIMUM PERFORMANCE.

With an award-winning performance record, you can rely on Airways to meet your expectations from the subtle to the most critical. In addition to our same day service, we also offer you next day, 2-day or even deferred service if that better fits your situation. Here’s the point – we always look at all the shipping options and recommend real world solutions that make sense.

HANDLED WITH CARE.

Utilities cargo, without exception, requires a higher standard of expert care. Airways personnel are specially trained professionals in the handling of dangerous goods and radioactive materials – certified in all fields related to utilities. And you can reach a reassuring and familiar professional day or night, weekends and holidays, with immediate access to our industry-leading dispatching and tracking systems.

YOUR SHIPPING PARTNER.

At Airways, we act as an extension of your team – a personal logistics partner you can count on in the most critical situations. And with one centralized operations facility, Airways is uniquely qualified to communicate accurate, timely information to you and your maintenance supervisors, engineers, or technicians.

Choose the company most utility providers rely on – Airways. Let us put our energy and experience to work for you today.
